

OFFICERS SEE THE EXAMPLE FOR MEN

If the Officers of the Army Are Good Marksmen, Says Col. Barlow, the Privates Will Take an Interest in Good Shooting

Colonel Barlow of London, England, who has been placed for competition during the past four years at the annual Dominion rifle matches, for the first time of four officers, is spending a few days in the city. He is on tour of Canada from the coast and although he has visited the Dominion many times, coming to Canada for the first time in 1873, this is the first time he has visited Edmonton. He made his first trip from the Pacific to the eastern provinces over the C. P. R. only a few weeks after the line was completed.

Speaking to the Capital this morning he expressed surprise at the rapid development of this section of the Dominion and gave it as his opinion that Canada as a whole is attracting more attention from people of the British Isles than any other part of the British Empire.

"Emigration from Great Britain to South Africa has not yet commenced," he said, "and until there is a steady influx of whites into that country its development will be retarded seriously. As a result of the expansion of the empire, it is held back to a certain extent by the organizations of labor and in New Zealand this condition is ever more marked."

Great efforts are now being put forth in Australia to induce white emigration from the country but one of the

MANY RESIDENCES BEING ERECTED IN STRATHCONA

Estimated That Over $60,000 Worth of Permits for Dwellings Alone Have Been Issued in University City This Year to Date—Number Business Blocks

Strathcona, Sept. 9.—When it was estimated a few weeks ago that the value of residential buildings erected in Strathcona this season would reach somewhat the $100,000 mark, even the newspaper man failed to foresee the extent of the construction of dwellings along this line in various parts of town during the fall. That the total will reach far above the estimated amount is proven by the permits being issued during the past month from the office of the city engineer. These permits show a total of $60,000 being placed at once in residences mostly in the western and northern sections of the city and it is doubtful if the books of any corresponding period in previous years contain a total of this magnitude in this particular line of building.

From the attached list of builders it will be seen that in the majority of houses being erected or planned this

GRIESBACH MUST TAKE UP MAIN ISSUE OF CAMPAIGN

Imperative that He Take a Definite Stand on Oliver Charges or Large Number of His Followers Will Abandon Fight in This Constituency

The lack of vitality in Major Griesbach's campaign speeches, his apparent indifference to the main issues of the electoral contest, has caused the number in which he has allowed the heart of the campaign to fall upon the shoulders of his lieutenants, while himself making a leisurely tour of the constituency, have aroused not a little uneasiness in his own camp, and within the next few days some of the doubtful followers on the Conservative side will be called upon to contribute to the issue which is more clearly defined, unless the meeting in the Thistle on Monday evening should bring forth a clearly defined pronouncement on the Oliver charges.

Myself and a number of Major Griesbach's strongest supporters have been bitterly disappointed with the campaign in this constituency. President members of the conservative party in Edmonton are known to have declared in the Thistle on Monday evening that they joined the Oliver issue, that they had joined themselves to the discussion of an issue which, in their opinion, is of no importance to the people of this constituency. It is evident that the issue of a frame up exists between Griesbach and Oliver, and that Griesbach, in the opinion of B. O'Connor, are equally working for the return of Oliver to Ottawa," said a local Conservative yesterday.

The belief that Griesbach has been a traitor to his party, is becoming widespread amongst his followers. The meeting in the Thistle on Monday evening will give him an opportunity to clear himself of the suspicion.

EDMONTON CONVICT IS STILL AT LARGE

Believed That He Has Crossed River and Headed South—Cordon of Police Sweeping District

Although the police believe that Convict Landon, who made his escape from the penitentiary Wednesday evening has made good his getaway and is by this time far to the south, vigilance in the neighborhood of Edmonton has not relaxed in the slightest. Guards are posted along the river and a sharp lookout is being kept in the city. The possibility that he has not attempted to flee, but is remaining quietly in the city in hiding has not been overlooked, and all means of exit from the town is being carefully guarded. In addition to the guarding of means of traffic out of the city, detectives are watching the criminal haunts of the city with increasing industry.

Reports of his appearance in different parts of the country have been received by the police, but so many of them are conflicting and often vague that they lead to nothing, although every one is run down. All means of his going south, if he has not left the city already, have been blocked.

A report was received in the city this morning from the neighborhood of the Horse Hills to the northeast of Edmonton that he was seen at a late hour last night making towards the Sturgeon river. Means of leaving the city by this road have not been closely guarded, as the belief was that he would make for the south, across the river, at once and attempt to cross the boundary before the authorities would have time to follow him.

A later report from the Sturgeon confirms the belief. A boat from a farm house on the bank of the stream is missing, and it is thought that he made down the river intending to cross where the Sturgeon joins the Saskatchewan.

Landon has a long criminal record in the States and is known from Denver to San Francisco as one of the worst desperadoes in the western country.

WORKMEN BURIED BY FALLING WALLS

ELEVEN BODIES REMOVED FROM RUINS OF STRUCTURE AT NICE, FRANCE—60 INJURED

(Western Associated Press)
Nice, France, Sept. 9.—The restaurant connected with the Zibouche, the largest theatre in Nice, collapsed this morning, burying a number of Italian workmen in the debris. Late last night eleven dead and sixty seriously injured had been taken from the ruins. It is feared that others still remain near the wreckage.

The work in which the reinforced concrete was used, it is stated, was being hurried by the contractors, who were liable to a heavy fine for each day they exceeded the contract for finishing the structure.

The collapse occurred at ten o'clock this morning, while the work was in full swing. A few of the workmen near the windows heard the first rumbling of the timbers above them and one of the men, who was standing with slight injuries, rushed to the interior, however, had no chance to get out. Some of these men were taken out shortly after. The restaurant walls are so weak that it is feared that they will fall.

REALTY TRANSFERS TOTAL $1,000,000

NUMBER OF BIG DEALS PUT THROUGH BY LOCAL BROKERS DURING PAST FEW DAYS

In real estate circles the week which comes to a close today has been the most notable of the fall season, transactions involving the sale of property valued at considerably over 1,000,000 having been carried out during the week, while the increase in realty values has been marked in all portions of the city, the west end proving particularly susceptible to the general tendency.

With a harvest the most beautiful in the history of the Edmonton district, or of the prairie areas to the north, west and east and south, with continued warm weather placing a greater proportion of the harvest beyond the danger line from day to day and one week's summer alone required to bring the whole of the crop to maturity, the realty market, which has continued in a healthy condition throughout the season, shows signs of a sudden and marked increase in activity. There is no doubt of an immediate return of the feverish activity which characterized the months of the early spring. Realty in Edmonton has passed the stage at which it can be affected by short-lived surges. The increase in values of west end properties, in some cases amounting to fifty percent in a period of three months, might have caused almost unbridled public attention is more or less distracted by the political issues which are now being played before the electorate. But it is nevertheless a fact, that the outlook has never been brighter than it is today.

The week has been notable for one or two very large transactions, but it is not necessary, even to bring these into the week's totals to show one of the best weeks of the year. The purchase by the Magnolia-Holgate Co. of 829 acres of land west of "The Highlands" has in itself proved a feature of peculiar interest, an interest which will not wane as the details of the estate proceeds. The company are building the street railway line to "The Highlands" at a cost of $25,000 into the bank to the credit of the city to cover the cost of building the track. Mr. Macrae is now in Calgary, arranging the details of another transaction of large proportions.

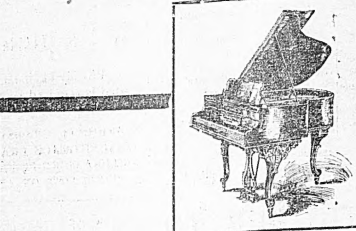

West End Movement

In the west end there has been a movement, less remarkable for large deals, than for the phenomenal rate at which building also in residential quarters have been disposed of, at values which constitute records in Edmonton realty. It is doubtful whether Jasper avenue west holdings have been more sought after at any previous time. The opening of the new season. One concern alone, that of York & McNamee, reports deals totaling over $100,000, confined almost entirely to properties on Jasper between Tenth and Sixteenth streets. The fall of this year in some degree, but the spring of next to a hitherto unknown extent, will witness building activity in these Jasper avenue sales. Sales of trackage and of residential sites in the far west. York & McNamee report a total turnover for the week of in the neighborhood of $200,000.

The average price of property on Jasper west, for six or seven blocks west of Tenth street, is today $25,000 a lot.

In the great ravine the price of property has shown a large increase. The price of $3,000 a lot is now demanded for good properties, while across the steel bridge, in Glenora, and in Ingwood and throughout the whole of the new residential section, the sales have been brisk. The same movement is being made in the Capital city in the work of the commencement of excavation of the subterranean mansion to be erected on the property to the southwest of the Great Ravine bridge, has given a flip to the building activity of the west end. In Westgrove practically every lot in the original subdivision has been disposed of.

A number of deals of importance were put through in the course of the week. Holte and Kenwood, the latter items in the week's business aggregating $111,000. To a firm of local people a valuable lot on Fourth street was disposed of for the sum of $10,000. The purchasers will erect a large warehouse on the property next spring.

MINISTER OF INTERIOR AGAIN DODGES ISSUE

Tells German Gathering That Personal Merits of Men Are Not to be Considered

Addressing a meeting of Germans in Nohr's hall last evening, Hon. Frank Oliver appealed frankly to his hearers to leave the personal question out of the election, to vote for him as though they were casting a ballot in a referendum on reciprocity, and the personal merits of the candidates were of no significance.

"I want you to consider this election purely as a referendum," said he. "Leave out the personal merits of the men. All I want is that the principle of reciprocity be established."

In a superfluous atmosphere made opaque by clouds of smoke, Mr. Oliver spoke to German citizens last evening after attending meetings on the Flat at the Boss Flats Mission school, and the Riverside public school. Nicholas Hinder, who threatened to destroy the whole German Olivette organization if his compatriots did not make him president, occupied the chair, while Mr. Huser and Mr. Hammett were among the speakers.

GRAND MANOEUVRES OF FRENCH ARMY TO TAKE PLACE THIS MONTH

Section of Aeroplanes Will Be an Important Feature—New Way of Love Making—Too Many Tortoisés—Capital's News Letter from France

(By N. W. L. Anderson)
(London Cable Service)
(London Cable Service)
Paris, Sept. 9.—This year's grand manoeuvres of the French army will take place this month in the area which is bounded by Saint Quentin, Reims, Germany, and Compiegne. The concentration of the troops will be completed on September 10, the 11th will be a day of rest, and the two following days will be devoted to crop manoeuvres. After another interval of one day, the 16th, 17th and 18th will be devoted to the principal idea of the manoeuvres, in which an army under the command of General Meneval, a member of the Army Council, will be engaged against a marked enemy. The following forces will take part in the manoeuvres: The First army corps, under the command of General Drouot, the Sixth army corps, the strength of which will be brought up to three divisions, under General Perrot, the Fourth and Fifth corps, and divisions, a composite brigade of Zouaves and Chasseurs, and a reserve brigade. The total number of men in the army will be 80,000, comprising 82 battalions, 64 squadrons and 15 batteries.

A formidable airship and a section of aeroplanes will be attached to each of the two armies.

With reference to the aeroplane in war, M. Valadier, in the course of an interview, declares that the use of aeroplanes could easily render almost useless by damage the best sort of fortifications in the world. "Within an hour of the declaration of war with Germany," he said, "he would be over the frontier and at Strasbourg, and on the way would have destroyed all the great railway junctions along the line, not forgetting the forts."

To Utilize a Driftling
It had been originally intended to utilize a driftling, and several aeroplanes in connection with the French grand manoeuvres in the Mediterranean this month, but as these manoeuvres have no strategic interest and as the "driftling" the cruiser which was to convey the aeroplanes, is not ready, that intention has been abandoned.

Experiments, however, are to be carried out as soon as possible with aeroplanes of the type of the "driftling" which has arrived with its apparatus on board the armoured cruiser "Edgar Drouot" at Toulon. The idea will be to test as to their value for both ordinary scouting purposes and for the discovery of submarines.

Effect of Dresses on Commerce
Among the notes in the "Revue des Français" is a somewhat alarming report of the effect of modish dresses on commerce. The "handkerchief of France" is a recent report, draws attention to the slump in local manufactures, and suggests parliamentary intervention. France is especially celebrated for its cotton industry, but costly shifts have brought about what is stated to be "an enormous accumulation" of unsold stock of work, dresses which formerly required from twelve to fourteen metres of lining now need only five, with the result that many mill-wheels do not move, and that numbers of weavers and dyers are thrown out of work altogether, or are put on short time. The hope is expressed that leading dress-makers will come to the rescue, and that a more becoming fashion will anticipate sumptuary laws.

GERMAN DUCHIES FIGHT FOR FREEDOM

CONSTITUTIONAL STRUGGLE IS NOW IN PROGRESS IN DUCHIES OF THE KAISER'S EMPIRE
(International News Service)
Berlin, Sept. 8.—The two grand-duchies of Mecklenburg-Steritz and Mecklenburg-Schwerin, are engaged in a great constitutional contest. These two little states, in common with all the states in the federation composing the German Empire, possess home rule. Hitherto, however, their government has been entirely in the hands of the nobility, who number about 800, assisted by the mayors of the towns, who form a diet, or parliament, which is supposed to discuss the public policy of the two grand-duchies in common, but the revenue and expenditures have been solely in the grand-duke's hands.

Grand Dukes Have Democratic Ideals
In accordance with the principles of the imperial constitution, each state was promised, after the formation of the Empire, electoral system, but these two grand-duchies have, owing to the opposition of the nobility, not received one. The two grand-dukes have on many occasions endeavored to bring the nobles to a reasonable conception of their duty to the public, but without avail. The latest proposals of the nobility demand, to consider the introduction of a popularly elected diet and suggest the formation of a parliament in which they selected two-thirds of the members and thus retain all the power. The grand-dukes of Mecklenburg-Steritz refused to accept the proposals and expressed himself in very strong terms, declaring them to be not even a basis for a proper reform. The grand-duke declared that if central of the imperial policy and finances was to pass out of the hands of the rulers they did not intend to hand it over to the nobility, but desired the masses of the people to have control.

There is, however, a deadlock, and unless the nobility gives way the people of the grand-duchies will remain without a constitutional government indefinitely, although the federal council of the empire may exercise its right to step in and force the situation.

FIND QUANTITY LIQUOR.
Provincial Detectives Make Record Hunt and Keeper of Record is Fined $100 and Costs

Sixteen bottles of Mumm's champagne, the real stuff, were seized by detectives of the liquor house branch of the police last week on the premises of Mrs. Ashley, keeper of a house of ill-repute. During the raid of the premises, which are located about a mile from the town, the detectives also unearthed some thirty-six quart bottles of Mumm's champagne, three quart bottles of Black and White Scotch Whisky, and four quarts of G and W special rum.

The keeper of the wine cellar was hauled before P. Beach, J.P., and asked to show cause why he should dispossess of the goods, and as she had neither a bartender's license nor a saloon license, the magistrate imposed a fine of $100 and the costs of the case.

She was assisted by some "falling" under and died within a few hours.

The Joke Was Intended for Buck Nix, But It Was Really on the Cabby

By Sidney Smith

WAS A STAR

He was a rapid young man, and kept very late hours. He was going a long journey, and on bidding farewell to his beloved, said to her: "Darling, when I am far away, will you care at you else every night and think of me?" "I will, indeed, dearest," she replied. "I'll remind you of me by reminding me of you, I would choose that very star." "Why," he asked, "because it is always out so late at night, and look so pale in the morning."

A DANGEROUS DRINK

Judge Ben B. Lindsey, the noted reformer of Denver, was lunching one day—it was very warm—when a politician passed beside his table. "Judge," said the politician, "I see you're drinking hot coffee. That's a healthy drink." "Yes," said Judge Lindsey. "Oh, yes, in this weather you want lead drinks, Judge—sharp, lead drinks. Did you ever try lead gin and ginger ale?" "No," said the Judge, smiling, "but I've tried several fellows who have."

DATES SOME GREAT FIGHTERS HAVE WON THEIR BOUTS

A List of Great Ring Battles and the Days on Which They Were Fought

Jim Jeffries' favorite day for fighting was Friday. He won most of his important match bouts on that day, and his friends were greatly surprised when they heard that he had agreed to box Jack Johnson at Reno on the Fourth of July, 1910, which fell on Monday. Bob Fitzsimmons had no luck for any certain day. Like Hehler, they looked alike to him. He beat Corbett at Carson City on March 13, 1891, and was beaten for the championship at Coney Island in the month of June. Tom Sharkey didn't care when or where he fought, so long as the dough was in sight. Jim Corbett was always very nervous about the dates of his battles, simply because it made him nervous. The appended list of important fights shows the day and month in which all the heavyweight battles were decided since the days of Joe Goss.

May 30, 1880—Paddy Ryan defeated Joe Goss and won the title after 87 rounds of three fighting at Galt's station, W. Va. Feb. 7, 1882—John L. Sullivan defeated Paddy Ryan and won title in nine rounds at Mississippi City, Miss. April 29, 1882—John L. Sullivan knocked out Jack McDermott in three rounds at Rochester, N. Y. The Musician's Choice

The
for Master Musicians

Investigate

The Masters Piano is designed and built to meet the demands of the most critical Musicians. The most skilled workmen are employed in its construction, and that combined with other features, distinctly its own, make it an instrument standing at the peer of perfection.

No good enough impression is allowed to prevail, for the only criterion is perfection, and that lofty idea is pursued in the construction of the Masters' Pianos.

There are many old and well known pianos that show no improvement inside and outside, since the day of the original makers years ago.

The best pianos offered at the present time have been developed by progressive men of today, who believe regarding the Piano, as did Edison, and Bell of the telephone, that there was a vast field for improvement. Men of skill are employed in the building of Masters Pianos, and have made it an instrument par excellence, artistic in every sense of the word.

We carry the largest stock of pianos, and musical merchandise West of Toronto.

CHANGES EFFECTED BY NEW JUDICIAL CODE

Act Is Not Revolutionary But Reverts Back to What the Framers of Constitution Had in View—Circuit Courts to Be Abolished

(International News Service) London, Sept. 9.—The formulation of the new "Federal Judicial Code," which among other things abolishes the circuit courts, is not revolutionary, but rather "evolutionary," and reverts back to the original designs and intentions of the constitution, is the opinion declared by former Supreme Court Justice Henry B. Brown, retired, in his address before the convention of the American Bar association in Washington hall today.

He paid tribute to the commission authorized by congress to revise and codify the laws, declaring the performance of their task most admirable and complimenting their judgment in selection of the things to be changed. "The advantages derived from the code are only exceeded by the evils it escaped," he said.

Beginning with a history of the evolution of the court system of the country, Justice Brown told how the circuit courts had, since their creation, gradually lost power and dignity, by congressional enactment and otherwise, until they had come to be practically nothing but a name, so that their abolition became necessary.

"The new judicial code," he said, "had its origin in a commission authorized by congress in 1897, to revise and codify the criminal and penal laws of the United States. This revision was passed in 1909 and became operative in 1910."

"One who anticipates in a new judicial code, a complete reorganization of the federal judicial system, or other radical departure from the present historical plan, will probably be disappointed after an examination of the new code. The plan which for a hundred and twenty years has worked so successfully remains practically unaltered. The changes have been rather in form than in substance. The great principles enunciated by Marshall and Taney have grown in favor with the lapse of years, from a hailing acquaintance to a universal and cordial acceptance. The supremacy of the supreme court in cases involving the construction of the constitution and laws of the United States, once so stoutly contested, is now a maxim of American jurisprudence. The theory that the highest court of the state may declare the invalidity of an act of the legislature, has become the law of every state in the union, and is to be preserved."

Constitutional Members. "May I add, as a former member of the court, that in my opinion the court, as at present constituted, has never been represented by able or more conscientious men."

"The most important change in the new judicial code consists in the abolition of the circuit courts."

Some criticism has been made of the abolition of the historical court, but it appears to have arisen more from sentiment than from any fear of the practical operation of the measure. "It should be noted in this connection that, while the circuit courts are abolished, and it is contemplated that the only court of the first instance shall be held by the district judge, yet wherever the business of a district court is too heavy for a single judge, a circuit judge may be designated to assist him, and a district judge may be designated to assist a circuit judge in another district."

Strikes at Abuse. "The 26th section strikes at an abuse which has existed ever since the creation of the court of appeals of the district of Columbia, by removing a discrimination which has occasioned much annoyance and loaded the docket of the supreme court with a large number of cases which had no proper place there. In an act establishing that court an appeal was given to the supreme court in every case involving $5,000 regardless of the question at issue. This discrimination has been removed, and the appellate power of the supreme court limited to jurisdictional and constitutional cases, such as involve the construction or application of any law or treaty of the United States, or the validity of any authority exercised under the United States. The necessity for such restriction is apparent from the fact that under the present system about one case in every three brought up from the district of Columbia—a number grossly disproportionate to the population of the district as compared with that of the states.

Court of Appeals. "The Great Court of Appeals, established under the act of 1891, performs the work of an intermediate appellate court, which was originally intended to be performed by the circuit court when held by two justices, and the district judge. It is believed to have worked to the entire satisfaction of the bar and of the country. Under the new judicial code, several docket will probably be required for different classes of cases, law, equity, admiralty, bankruptcy and criminal cases. This, however, is a matter more of detail for each court to determine."

Under section 266 intermediate injunctions against the enforcement of a statute of a state upon the ground of its unconstitutionality can only be granted upon a hearing before three judges, one of whom must be an Associate Justice or Circuit Judge and not to the Governor or Attorney-General of the state.

New Code Changes. "These are the only practical innovations made by the new code upon the existing law."

"The code does not include chapters upon pleading, evidence or procedure, which, in accordance with the policy or congress not to attempt too much at one time, are reserved for a separate code, which has been prepared and will be submitted to congress at its next session."

Great credit is due to congress, and to its revisors, not only for the conservative character of the new legislation proposed by them, and for the preservation of the most valuable features of the system inaugurated by the Judiciary Act, but for their resistance to innovations, which experience teaches us best every attempt to revise the laws from those who would avail themselves of the opportunity of incorporating the peculiar views of a particular class of men, who would seek by discarding the courts to undermine and ultimately destroy the independence of the judiciary. In short, the advantages derived from the code are only exceeded by the evils it escaped."

As the New England country judges who have abandoned their ancestral farms, and taken to the cities or to the west, in quest of quicker and easier return, often find themselves duped by false promises and elusive hooks, and are beginning to exclaim, "Back to the farm!"

So may not we, who have been lured to forsake our ancestral paths, and to believe that we are wiser than those who have deliberately chosen to speak for us, also find relief in the cry, "Back to the Constitution!"

C. P. R. Failed to Get Conviction Some weeks ago the C. P. R. officials at this point found themselves minus a pair of deer heads which were shipped here from the east and were having been delivered to the consignees here. When the detective of the station, Mr. Grieson, began working on the case he discovered the same-time missing heads in the possession of one of the local yard switchmen, Rice by name. The discovery led to the arrest of Rice and his trial in the police court Wednesday.

Rice told a story of having purchased the heads from an unknown party one night, during the latter part of August, at what he considered a lodge that the goods were stolen. This explanation was corroborated along general lines by the evidence of the night bagmen who testified that a partly intoxicated man came to him about midnight of the date in question and wanted to sell two deer heads "at a snap" in the man's own words. Detective Grieson and his counsel Mr. Mustard of Edmonton worked hard to get the accused sent up for trial but Magistrate Downes decided that the evidence against him was too flimsy. Mr. Jackson of Edmonton appeared for the defence.

Douglas Will Hold Meeting Here Next Wednesday Liberal nominee J. M. Douglas for this constituency will hold his first public meeting in this, his home city, next Wednesday night. For the past two weeks Mr. Douglas has been speaking at various points, socialist and south of Strathcona and in every occasion he has been given a splendid hearing from large audiences and has created a favorable impression with his arguments in each instance.

The meeting here next Wednesday will not doubt be a large one and interesting in view of the keen political rivalry which is now manifest in the city. Hon. A. C. Rutherford of Strathcona and R. T. Telford, M. P. P. of Leduc will assist Mr. Douglas.

Pavers Complete Station Square. The last lot of bitulife was pulled and hammered into place on the station square Wednesday night by the paving contractors and this improvement to the C. P. R. premises though a year belated is one that will be appreciated both by the local officials and the general public. Yesterday morning the bitulife was opened operations on first street east north of Whyte and from that point the finishing work will extend round to the intersection of first avenue north with Main street, the concrete part of the contract being now complete upon these blocks. On Whyte avenue west the blocks between Second and Fourth streets are being belatedly ready for the paving which will probably start there next week. The remaining water and sewer connections are being made between Fourth and Fifth streets west.

LABOR UPRISING FEARED IN THE KAISER'S EMPIRE (International News Service) Berlin, Sept. 9.—The recent strikes in England and the splendid results that have come to the workers have created a very strong impression in Germany, and the authorities are fearing a general labor uprising all over the country, which would be very difficult to deal with; first because the workers here are too sensible to resort to any kind of violence, which would give the government a chance to work, and second, because everyone knows that invincible though German troops might be in facing a foreign foe, they are too much affected by socialist doctrines to be relied on if ordered to fire on their own countrymen and brethren. Signs of unrest are not lacking anywhere in the great industrial centers where wages have not kept up with the rapid advance in the prices of the necessities of life.

In the metal trades throughout Prussia, Saxony, Bavaria, and Wurttemberg, many thousands of men are either on strike or locked out, and there is also serious unrest among the employees of the Berlin street car system, which threatens to culminate in a complete cessation of work unless their demands are satisfied.

APACHE DANCES ARE IN DISFAVOR IN BERLIN (International News Service) Berlin, Sept. 9.—The Berlin dancing masters and ball room proprietors have had their artistic feelings greatly shocked by the latest developments of the dance here. The principal cause of offense are, first the American rock-walk and then its successor, the Parisian apache dance, which has "caught on" to an alarming extent in Germany. Its gyrations and disconcerting movements, although possessing a certain amount of rhythm are described in a resolution passed by the society of ball room proprietors as "ungraceful and indecorous," and as tending to the emolument of the deeds of gangs of "grand-for-nothings," and steps are to be taken to expel it from Berlin.

The suggestion was made that the aid of the Chief Commissioner of Police should be called in, and that he should be requested to forbid such dances by decree, also that police-men should be stationed in the public ball rooms as enforcers. If it is, however, finally decided to appeal by placards posted around the public ball rooms to the moral sense of the public and thus to punish these "freak" dances without public interference.

Can It Be Possible That Mutt and Jeff Are Going on a Vacation? :: By "Bud" Fisher

SAM LANGFORD TALKS ABOUT WHAT HE'LL DO

Says He Has Chased Johnson Around the World for a Match, But That Jack Is Afraid—Sure to Meet Him in Australia

New York, Sept. 7.—Sam Langford, the Boston tar baby, who defeated Joe Jeaneau here in their 10 round bout recently, has announced that he will scrap Jim Flynn before he leaves for Australia in October. The date of the match has not been announced, but it will necessarily be within a very short time. The negro's idea in meeting Flynn is not to get the money, although of course he will do that. He wants to go to Australia on actual recent performance, as well as in the opinion of the public.

Johnson cannot scoff at a defeat of Jeaneau, in view of his own record with that fighter. And Flynn, while not highly rated, won from Kaufman, and Johnson himself said some time ago that Kaufman was the man with the best chance to take the championship from the present holder, said Langford in discussing Johnson:

"I am going to Australia to make him fight me or show him up as a rank coward. If Johnson can get hold of McIntosh to give him $30,000 he'll probably agree to meet me, which means that I'll come back here with the championship of the world. But I'll not be satisfied that Johnson really wants to take a chance until I see him in the ring again on the above."

"I've said an old score to settle with this cultured gentleman. We met in Chelsea five years ago in a 15-round bout. I weighed 130 pounds then, while Johnson weighed 160. He was as much of an unknown as I was, and nobody outside of the local sporting men paid any attention to us. It was just after the fight started that I could Johnson on the point of the jaw with a right hook and flung him out on the floor like a flat-jack. His eyes were rolling, and he almost turned white. When he got up he looked scared, most to death, and Jimmie on him the come round the round. After that he wouldn't mix with me, and just stuck out his left hand, jabbed me in the face the rest of the way. The referee said he was on points, but you can bet that Johnson was as bad when it was over."

"Ever since that night I've been trying to get him into the ring with me again, but he never forgets that punch on the jaw I gave him and doesn't want another. He knows I am 20 pounds heavier now, and he isn't looking any better."

The Boston Tar Baby

SAM LANGFORD, the Boston "Tar Baby."

That was a big show card horse, and so was Sam McVey. Johnson never stopped Jeaneau, and it took him 23 rounds to knock out poor little Jeaneau. I could have stopped Jeffries myself in ten or twelve times that Johnson did the trick. I stopped Bill Lane in six rounds, while Lane was also fighting the champion. Johnson knocked out Jim Flynn in 14 rounds, and I did it in six. Kaufman, who stayed 10 rounds with Johnson, positively refused to meet me at all.

Johnson was matched to fight 20 rounds with me at the National Sporting Club, in London, in May, 1909. He signed articles himself, and accepted a bonus from the club's management. That was before he whipped Burns in Australia. But when the time came for him to make good he ran out of the match and gave no more reason. He knew he'd be whipped, and he wanted to get a crack at Mutt Jeff, who was a sure-cash knock number.

Will Play for Body
I'm the best man of my weight in the world. I can hit harder and know as much about the game as he does. It makes no difference how clever he is, I can find a way to get through his defense. Johnson doesn't like to get punched. His body is the weak spot. I am nearly 6 inches shorter, and I know that I can beat him. There's no use fighting for his head, because he's so tall that I'd have to waste many blows. But once I connect with his stomach I'll bring him down so that I can get to the jaw. I know how hard Johnson hit him and I ain't afraid of him. If he'd been a real slugger he'd knocked Jeff out in half a dozen rounds. But he couldn't hit, and that made the fight go longer than it should."

"I know Johnson's afraid to meet me, 'cause Johnson, of the Palm Court club, once offered him $10,000 to box six rounds with me. Johnson wouldn't hear of it, and ran away when he knew I was waiting around the corner. Every time I tried to pin him down he said I'd have to put up $20,000 for a forfeit and side bet. It ain't so easy to get that much money together, and he knew that was the way to prevent a match. But now I'm coming to Australia at Mutt McIntosh's invitation, and he tells me he will make Johnson come to the scene."

BASKETBALL TEAMS GETTING READY FOR COMING SEASON

All the Old Stars Are Still in the Game—Games with Calgary for Leadership

Plans are already under way at the Y.M.C.A. for the basketball season this winter. The first game will be played on September 25, being an exhibition contest, and shortly after that the teams will begin their scholastic matches. There will probably be eight teams or maybe ten in the league this year. Five have already applied for franchises in the circuit. Nearly all the old stars are there and there is a lot of new material for the coming season. Games will be played this year with Calgary teams and other more extended enterprises are being considered. The season should be a decidedly test one this year.

A MEETING MONDAY.

Toronto, Sept. 9.—The situation created by President Murphy's decision that the Montreal-National Labor Day game must be played was considerably cleared tonight when the commission announced that the Montreal, Toronto and Toronto clubs had written President Murphy, requesting a special meeting of the N.L.C. to discuss the matter. President Murphy had previously refused the Toronto request for a meeting, claiming that it was unconstitutional, but as the needs number of clubs have asked for a meeting it would be held at the Windsor hotel, Montreal, probably on Monday night.

First Game Was Played Yesterday and Norwood Won with Score 2 to 1

The first game between teams in the public school football league was played yesterday afternoon. Norwood and Spadina Avenue schools being the contenders. Norwood won by a score of two to one. The boys are not in condition yet and have not learned the fine points of the game, but with a few weeks' practice should be following the pick-up with an interest and science that should promise well for the future in a few years. The preparing of a league schedule is under way and should be published at an early date. The first game of the schedule will probably be played next week. In the meantime Norwood is trying to arrange a game with Queens Avenue school for Monday or Tuesday night.

RUGBY ENTHUSIASM RISES TO HIGH PITCH IN CITY

Teams Are Practicing All the Time and Boys Are Anxious to Trim Calgary

Rugby sure is booming in Edmonton this fall. The way Deacon White's boys turn out to practice any time and every time is a good enough indication that the game is going to be so some this year. There was a bunch out last night learning the fine points of the game from the Deacon who is selling into it enthusiastically and has already aroused such an interest that the fellows are ready to practice almost every night. Calgary is coming to get their heads whalloped off this year and the team that is going to do it is the very best Edmonton has seen. They were so badly beaten last year. Then about that city league. The Y.M.C.A. and Varsity are deep in the game and will probably have teams that will make the champions of the greatest city in the west that looks Edmonton as every one knows so like the chickens to get their heads whalloped off.

MAN'S WANDERINGS MAKE MYSTERY IN SPORT WORLD

Catcher Slight Goes to Big League and Wichita Reaps a Profit

There appears to be a dispute as to the ownership of "Catcher Slight" of the Edmonton team, in which the Chicago White Sox, Wichita, Spokane and Edmonton all seem to be involved. To follow the wanderings of "Catcher Slight" from team to team is like following the trail of a snake through a meadow. Slight at one time was with Wichita having been turned out by the Sox but he never joined them. He went to Spokane and then to Edmonton by some mysterious trade. Then the Boston Americans got a finger in the pie but are warned off by the National Commission. In the meantime Wichita is getting $500 from some big league team and Edmonton is giving up a catcher who to all intents and purposes belonged here.
